THE MOST POPULAR ROSE IN THE WORLD TODAY

This wonderful rose is almost indescribably lovely. The well-shaped bud opens to a huge clustered flower of excellent shape. Its color is the golden yellow of a morning sunrise, tinged with soft crimson at the petals' edges. It is very fragrant, and the foliage is a polished green. It belongs in every garden. (Plant Pat. No. 591.) $2.50.

ROSES ARE IN LIMITED SUPPLY this year, due to the adverse growing conditions experienced by many growers throughout the country, many of whom lost hundreds of thousands of roses in floods and storms. Our supply, we are pleased to say, has not been affected in either quality or quantity; however, we do suggest that you purchase your roses as early as possible to assure a complete selection of varieties.

IF YOU'RE LOOKING FOR SOME variety of rose not listed in this catalog, we suggest that you check with us. It is entirely possible that we may have it. Catalog space precludes the listing of all varieties.

PRICES SHOWN ARE FOR BARE-root roses. Later in the season when roses will be available in containers, prices will be slightly higher for some varieties.

ALL PRICES ARE SUBJECT TO CHANGE

ROSES ARE EASY TO GROW . . .

HERE ARE THE SIMPLE, BASIC RULES TO FOLLOW:

- Selection —

Choose good, sturdy plants of first quality. Select varieties that are dependable for your area's growing conditions. We'll be glad to help you in your selection in any way possible.

- Planting —

Keep the rose-bush roots moist until time to plant. Immerse roots in a bucket of water for a few minutes prior to planting. Dig a good, deep hole; add a quantity of peat moss or other soil conditioner to the soil as needed—we'll advise you if you'll tell us where you live—and build a mound in the center of the hole. Spread the rose roots over this mound, pack the soil firmly around the roots, and water in well. A hormone powder, such as Rosetone, added to the water in which the roots are soaked prior to planting, is a further step toward assuring a vigorous plant.

- Culture —

Roses are heavy feeders, and a regular program of fertilizing is one major key to success with roses. During the growing season a monthly feeding of a good commercial product such as Vigoro or Gaviota is recommended. Use about a cupful per bush, distributed in a ring around the bush. Work this into the soil, then water well. An application of well-rotted manure in the early Fall, and again in the early Spring is also a recommended practice that will pay dividends in the form of sturdy, healthy bushes.

- Diseases and Pest Control —

Certain pests, especially aphids, will attack your roses at times, particularly in the Spring. These are not hard to control with a suitable spray, if you are careful to cover the underside of the foliage. Frequent spraying is also desirable in the Spring; it is not hard to do and will repay your efforts well. Mildew is also apt to appear, and also is easily controlled with a suitable spray; or a combination spray may be used that will control both in one application.

Roses are actually very hardy plants, and will respond with superb bloom and appearance with a little attention. A regular feeding and spraying program takes little time or effort and will assure you excellent roses for many years.

VOGUE

FLORIBUNDAS

VOGUE

A brand new floribunda, and an All America Award Winner for 1952. High-centered flowers are Hybrid Tea shaped; color is uniquely brilliant rose flushed with salmon; fragrance is spicy. Bush grows 2½-3 feet tall. Plant patent No. 926. $2.25.

CARROUSEL

Another new floribunda, with uniformly vivid dark red petals, 26 to 35 to the blossom. Unusually vigorous plant with mildew-proof foliage, it is highly recommended for border or hedge use. Plant patent applied for. $2.00.

KATHY FISCUS

Named in memory of the golden-haired Kathy Fiscus, this new floribunda bears clusters of delightful dawn-pink flowers on a vigorous, glossy bush. Flowers are very double and borne continuously in great abundance. Plant patent No. 967. $1.75.

Floribunda or polyantha roses are being more and more widely used each year. Their profuse blooming habit, virtually uninterrupted from Spring to Fall, provides continuous outdoor color for borders, beds, low hedges and even as a ground cover. Most of the newer varieties listed here are also excellent for cutting and arranging. They rate a place in almost every garden.

CECILE BRUNNER

Delightful, tiny double pink flowers borne on a compact, fine-foliaged plant. The "Sweetheart Rose". $1.25.

FASHION

A delicate but intense blending of coral and gold. All America Award Winner for 1950. Plant patent No. 789. $2.00.

FLORADORA

Vermilion flowers tinged with scarlet on a 3 to 4 foot bush. $1.25.

GOLDLOCKS

A bushy little rose with masses of golden flowers all through the Summer and Fall. Plant patent No. 672. $1.50.

HOLIDAY

Petals are warm vermilion inside, orange-yellow outside, with sweet fragrance. Plant patent No. 915. $1.50.

PINKIE

The petite pink rose more ideal in form than most any other floribunda. Spicily fragrant and gratifyingly productive. Plant patent No. 712. $1.75.

PINOCCHIO

Shades of salmon-pink, blended with sun-gold, and a delightful fragrance. Plant patent No. 484. $1.50.

RED RIPPLES

An ideal boutonniere flower, the buds are pointed, dark red, and perfectly shaped, opening to lovely, bright red flowers. Very free flowering. $1.25.

Many other varieties of floribunda roses are available at the nursery.

CLIMBING ROSES

BLAZE

A brilliant scarlet Rambler, sometimes called the EVERBLOOMING PAUL'S SCARLET. A vigorous climber, it will produce recurring blooms from Spring until Fall. $1.25.

MERMAID

Immense, single, primrose yellow blooms on an adaptable plant that can be used as a climber, pillar, or rambling bush. Exceptionally beautiful foliage. $1.25.

HIGH NOON

Pictured at the right, this outstanding pillar rose is truly everblooming. Long-stemmed buds make excellent cutting. Highly recommended. Plant patent No. 704. $2.00.

PAUL'S SCARLET

Probably the most planted of all ramblers, this unfailing vivid scarlet rose is truly sensational in the Springtime. Exceptionally hardy. $1.25.
